This delightful story, the author's lest, has the churacteristic charm of his other novels. It is light, it meanders, it is dilatory, if you like but it has the delicate touch and the suggestive style which appeal to those who do more than gallop through a novel.

An interesting feature of 'The Royal End' is the fact that Mrs. Harland collaborated with her husband in its production, and after his death brought it to completion.

Danger from Electric Wires Over McKinley Avenue Walk Less than when They Went Through the Trees-Dangerous Limbs to be Trimmed.

It is impossible to get a straight line through the trees in McKinley avenue used in other cities.

The police commissioners, Alderman had been hitched to a tree and the Robinson and Councilmen Gebrath and Heath, to whom was referred the petition of Judge Lucius Brown and a number of others asking for immediate ed. relief from the dangerous location of the electric light wires over the side-walk in McKinley avenue, gave a hear-walk in McKinley avenue, gave a hearing on Tuesday evening in the mayor's office for the purpose of hearing those interested on both sides. There were about twenty present.

Alderman Robinson, after explaining the reason of the hearing and the regult of a visit from Superintendent Bogue of the electric department, who said if the committee ordered a change he hoped they would say where the wires should be put. He called upon Judge Brown to state the position of the petitioners.

Judge Borwn said he was indebted things brought to the attention of the public in a long time. Electricity is dangerous even under the best regulations and Norwich has been fortunate in having but few accidents, but they are liable to occur at any time. There should be the greatest protection against it and that would many that against it, and that would mean that the wires should go underground. That is a question which may have to be decided here tonight. It will be ex-pensive, but no more so than if a death should occur. In McKinley avenue from the armory north to Broad street, on the west side, the electric wires are an outrigger from the poles, being over the sidewalk, not only making the street unsightly, but increases the danger to pedestrians. The wires are liable to fall or be crossed with telephone wires and cause fires. He thought they should not be allowed to continue as they are and now that the city's attention has been called to the dangerous condition, in case of a suit a jury would give little attention to the city's side. There is no better the armory north to Broad street, on the city's side. There is no better place for burying the wires than in McKinley avenue, and he believed the city should own all conduits and rent them to all who wanted to use them. Norwich can afford to do the work, and he gave the figures showing the

The Ivins accident was caused by a wire getting against a tree and it was suggested to Mr. Bogue that the wires be gotten out of the trees. The wires up McKiniey avenue were then placed on outriggers over the sidewalk and since that time there has been no trouble and the sparking has not been noticed since. Judge Brown had referred to a wire which had killed Dr. Linnell's horse, but Mr. Bogue said that wire injured the corporation horse, but Mr. Bogue said that wire less the trees were cut down-
